There was a man from Italy who got to messing around on his wife and finally was told there was a baby on the way. With that, he told his girlfriend to go back to Italy and let him know how things go and he would take care of everything. 6 months later his wife said that she read a strange email on the computer. What did it say honey, he asked very nervously. She said it read – Two have meatballs and one doesn't. Please send the sauce! What does that mean the wife asked as her hubby fainted. Hope you can chuckle a little…….I am so sick of political ads that this made me laugh. VOTE – VOTE – VOTE. Let's see where our old and new leaders take us. Vote for the person, not the party. There are great people on both sides if they do what they know is right. Not what the old bull tells them how they have to vote. Please, elected people…Stand on Your Own 2 Feet.
